Beautiful Mountain Is a Long-Extinct Volcano.

It Has Been Scaled, and, Contrary to Tradition, No Proof That Noah's Ark Ever Landed There Could

newly established republic of Ararat

most peak was the first dry land to appear above the waters, for the simple reason that it was the loftlestin Armenia, at all events.

As viewed today it gives a notion of the depth of the flood, inasmuch as the peak is more than three miles above sea level. It is dome-shaped, and its slopes for 8,000 feet from the top are covered with everinsting snow and great fields of glittering ice.

The climb down must have been rather difficult for Noah, his family and all the animals disembarked from the ark. As for an ascent to the top. it was formerly believed to be impossible. The Armenian monks declared that remains of the Noschlan bark still existed on the summit, and that by reason of their sanctity a supernatural influence forbade approach bold climber, Dr. Johann Parrot, succeeded in reaching the top of Ararat. and on coming down stated that he had found dot even the keel of the ark up there. Since then the feat has been repeated by several other adventurous persons.

Ararat comes pretty near to being the most beautiful mountain in the world. It is a long-extinct volcano, standing almost isolated save for a lesser peak, called Little Ararat, which (really part of it) is a cone of exquipile formed shout an eruptive chim-

Below, in the valley of Araxes, was the Garden of Eden, according to Ar-menian tradition. At Marsand, in that neighborhood, was (so say the monks) the burial place of Noah's wife. At Arguri, a village near a great chasm that runs into the heart of the mountain. Noah planted the first vipeyard.

Turkish Promises.

The first of more than a hundred treaties wrong from Turkey by which the porte promised protection to the Christians within the boundaries of the Ottoman empire, was signed 145 years ago, at the instance of Rossia. Not one of these hundred promis ever been kept-which is sufficiently indicated by the fact that all the treaties cover practically the same points. Every time the European powers saved Turkey from dismemberment, the reigning sultan in his gratitude, solemply promised that he would grant his Christian subjects in European Turkey liberty and equality before the England, at the tremendous cost of the Orlinean mar, had saved the Turks from the Russians, the sultan issued the famous Hattlaumatoun of February 18, 1856, in which he swore by the beard of the prophet to give Christ ans full equality The promise, like so m.oy others was but a "scrap of pa-per." Abdul Hamid on his ascension to the throne, declared that he would tanke "no distinction of creed" and posed as the protector of the Christions and Jews, of whom pro ably more than a million were stain during his reign of 33 y ars.

"Radio-Compass" New Invention. The naval communication service is perfecting a new and important inven-tion called a "rollo-compass."

To illustrate its use: A Sup. let us say, is 200 miles out at sea. Owing to persistent had weather, her navi-gating officer has not been able for many days to get a sight of the sub.

He has lost his bearings, and can only guess at his latitude and longitude.

But he has on board a radio-compass
—an instrument otherwise called a "directior-finder." His wireless outfit enrectior-finder." His wireless outlit chables him to receive messages from shore stations. The radio-compass gives him the directions of the stations from which these messages come. Thus he can locate the position of the ship with exactness, and the problem of navigation is safely solved.

Their Surprising Way.

"I was never more disappointed in anybody in my life than I was in my cousins up to Kay See," admitted Gabe Gosnell of Grudge, who was just back from a visit to the Big Burg. "Why, with everything on earth golin on and anything you could think of flatle to happen at any moment. I'll be switched if they don't poke off to bed at between 9 and 19 o'clock every night of the world?"—Kausas City Star.

A method by which snake charmers dupe ignorant people in India is thus tells the women of the house that he The people are alarmed and offer a reward to the snake charmer to re move the snake. He declares it to be good sum of money for the expect, which, he says, may cost him his life The reward is fixed and the money paid. The snake charmer, wearing only a loin cloth, commences to play on his bagpipe. The snake, previously rendered harmless, crawls into the middle of the room, and the snake charmer in catching it says that he has been bitten and falls senseless, His companion comes forward and puts a snake stone on an incision previously made for the purpose on the man's finger. The snake charmer at once recovers and gets up. His nuil-ence is much astonished and gives a big present to the cured snake charm er, who departs with the smake and the profit he has made.
